FYBER N.V.

Guidance update for full year 2019

Berlin, 21 November 2019 - Fyber N.V. (“Fyber” or the “Company”, FSE:FBEN) is announcing a further change to its revenue and adjusted EBITDA guidance for the full year 2019. The previously stated reasons took further effect on the Company’s business, which could not be offset with adequate growth from other areas of business.

Fyber’s revenue from its non-programmatic business, particularly gross revenue stemming from the Offer Wall ad format, decreased due to a recent change in Apple’s policy banning certain ad campaign types within this ad format for apps published through their app store.

Furthermore, although the core programmatic business with existing clients is in line with yearly expectations, the Company experienced delays in the ramp-up of business with new clients during the past quarter.

The Company therefore adjusts its revenue guidance from €130 - €135 million to around €120 million for the full year 2019 as well as the guidance for adjusted EBITDA from above break-even to around €-3 million.

Further details will be provided with the release of the interim financial statements for the first nine months of 2019 on 27 November 2019.
